Dynamic

- All language features available at runtime

- Compiled for performance

- Type hints and spec can be used to alleviate concerns associated with the lack of static typing

Performant

- Goal: Near-host performance

- Generally you don't need to do anything to achieve this

- Type hints, transients, transducers, and other built-in facilities can be used for performance tuning